BAND PLAYS FOR MOORHEAD HIGH

The M. S. T. C. Band under the direction of Mr. Christensen gave a concert at the Moorhead High School Wednesday, of this week, at 1 p. m. The program was given in the high school auditorium and was greatly appreciated and applauded by those present.

The auditorium was packed, and since the audience was slow in assembling the program as printed in last week's MISTIC was shortened by the omission of the Stradella overture.

Audre Casselman was given a pleasing reception for her solo, as was Arthur Skjonsby.

Detroit Trip Next Tuesday.

Due to the disagreeable weather on Wednesday the trip to Detroit Lakes was postponed until Tuesday, May 21, when the concert which has been prepared will be given. The Band will assemble in front of the Graystone Hotel, in band uniforms and will parade through the streets; later assembling to render a program which has been arranged by the director.

ARTS FESTIVAL IS FEATURED IN MAY JOURNAL OF M. E. A.

The May number of the Journal of the Minnesota Education Association contains a feature story of the Arts Festival, including the pageant, the art exhibit, the chapel choir sacred concert, and the Minneapolis Symphony concerts.

Emphasis is laid on the work of former years, also, and much is told of the educational value of the student productions. There is featured a picture of the chapel choir.

In the section, "Among Our Authors," occurs a picture and short sketch of Mr. Christensen, who contributed the article.

At the District High School Music Contest held last Saturday, May 11, in Weld Hall with about 200 students from ten neighboring high schools represented, Barnesville High School won first place with Frazee second.

ALUMNI PART OF PROGRAM PLANNED

SWING-OUT GROUP IN CHARGE UNTIL 4:30; ALUMNI THEN HAVE EVENTS

The executive committee of the Alumni Association, working in cooperation with the general College commencement committee, has completed plans for the part of the Alumni in the graduation program.

An effort to apportion the time between the various groups and events has been made and the result is that Tuesday, June 4, from 4:30 to 12:00 p. m. will be in charge of the Alumni. The first part of the day is in charge of the Swing-Out committee.

The annual business meeting of the Alumni Association will be held in the auditorium beginning at 4:30. This arrangement has been changed from former years, when the business meeting was a part of the banquet program.

Graduates to Be Admitted.

Another new feature of the Alumni program this year is a ceremony to admit the members of the graduating classes to the Alumni Association. This will occur at the auditorium as a part of the business meeting at 5:30.

The annual Alumni dinner will be served as usual in the Comstock dining room at 6:30. The dinner will be followed by a dance in the College library. Tickets will be sold to both the dinner and the dance.

Ticket Plan Announced.

The members of the graduating classes are to be guests of the Alumni Association at both events and tickets will be issued to them after the initiation ceremony at the auditorium.

To care for the expenses in connection with this program the committee has set the price for the dinner and dance at 75 cents. Those who do not attend the dinner may secure tickets to the dance alone for 50 cents.

Sub-Committees Appointed.

The Swing-Out committee is busily engaged with plans for the Swing-Out program. Several sub-committees were appointed at a meeting held last Monday with George Simson presiding.

The Class History is in charge of Dorothy Regimbal, Margaret Taylor, and Alvera Brown; Class Will, Ralph Smith, Leland Vinz, and Gorman Thompson; Prophecy, Ruth Hundebly and Lorraine Krause; and Class Poem, Ernest Gates.

Detroit Lakes Will Be Host to Schoolmasters

The final meeting of the Schoolmasters Study Club will be held tomorrow at Detroit Lakes, at which time schoolmen and their wives and families will have a picnic dinner in the city park.

Several of the group are to go early in the day for a fishing party preceding the picnic dinner. Dr. Archer is said to be sponsoring one of these groups.

Superintendent L. U. Towle of Detroit Lakes is in charge of arrange-

ALTHAIA STAGES "PRAIRIE FODDER"

ONE-ACT PLAY BY MRS. HAGEN GIVEN; MRS. KISE SINGS; SULLIVAN HERE

"Prairie Fodder," a one-act play of Norwegian life on the northern American prairies written by Mrs. Moselle Weld Hagen, was presented in assembly this morning by Althaia.

Helen Sorknes played the part of Marit Johanson, Christian Schulstad was Johan Johanson, Margaret Rosvold was Mrs. Johanson, the mother, and Helen Kiland was Kari Berset. The program was under the direction of Miss Gibbon, adviser of the society.

Play Is Winner.

Mrs. Kise sang a group of Norwegian folk songs before the play, and after the curtain fell, a group of songs by Grieg.

The play was judged the best in the contest sponsored by members of the society, and rated high in the Women's Club Fine Arts contest held in Fargo.

Oscar Sullivan of the state department of re-education and rehabilitation, addressed the student body at the auditorium Wednesday morning. He stated that Minnesota was the first state to provide for care of all permanently handicapped civilians by passing the act in 1919.

Vocation Man Speaks.

He told of the various methods of providing for the handicapped; how they are given vocational training in the fields of their interests and capabilities. Most of these men have had a limited education, though a few have had university training.

There is no special school for training, but the department sends them to a convenient and profitable place of instruction wherever it may be. In this manner the handicapped student has his training expenses paid. He is aided in securing a position later as no training would help if he could not be employed.

The same morning he addressed the World Literature class, discussing

THOUGHTS FIVE, TEN YEARS FROM NOW

With the coming of Commencement comes the rush of activities. Every student in looking forward to vacation is endeavoring to do his best; since he has duties on the various committees preparing for Swing-out, the Promenade, and so on, he is seen rushing through the halls with a book under his arm.

We stop in the halls to wonder at the various students. Is Commencement—the securing of a diploma—a stepping stone to his success, or does it mean the end of the goal? Does his Alma Mater mean the guiding force in his success? Will he yearly look forward with great eagerness to Homecoming as the bringing back of his fondest memories and friendships, or will it be forgotten as merely an event and association of the evolutionary past?

Then I ask myself the question, "Have I conducted myself in such a way, putting into my College career my best efforts, that my Alma Mater can be proud of me?"

It is with eager steps we trod down the halls of learning and sung praises to our Alma Mater undaunted.

THE PLAY DAY IS SUCCESS

The Rural Play Day held Tuesday on the campus for the students of Clearview, Oak Mound, Grover, Gunderson, and Sunnyside affiliated schools proved to be a success. Anyone who walked out to Memorial Field to discover the source of the collegiate yells which resounded over the campus discovered a large number of enthusiastic children having a real holiday.

Unless the writer is much mistaken the parents who accompanied the children were having just as good a time as the children.

It was excellent training for members of the class in Physical Education Methods to direct the play day. Visitors were well pleased by the way the event was handled. Let's have another play day next year.

LET'S HAVE THE PROM

Members of the various Promenade Committees have completed their plans. Tickets have been for sale at the Registrar's office for two weeks. Seventy-five tickets must be sold before these plans for a Senior Prom can be carried out. Last Saturday, May 11, was announced as the last day for the sale of the tickets, but the Promenade Committee has given the student body another opportunity by prolonging this time until today. Today is the last day and unless seventy-five tickets are sold by this evening, money will have to be refunded to the purchasers.

If it is impossible for students to pay cash at this time they may have tickets reserved. See the Registrar today! Get your ticket for the Senior Promenade.

COLETTE, THE CO-ED

"Yes, Miss Barlow, you may go for a stroll with your fair-haired shiek if you promise to return by seven-thirty—certainly, Miss Ihle can canoe with anyone she likes—Oh, no, Mr. Street-car Conductor, it isn't a bit stuffy—not at all—phooey! Where did all this dust come from?"

Gaining consciousness by degrees I looked up to find the energetic house president, one Emma Satre, vigorously cleaning her rug on the fire escape above my window. That "Early Bird" stuff—but how in the name of all that's logical would a worm get onto a fire escape? What would be wanted there and what would Miss Satre do if she found him anyway?

But to return to the ever present—perhaps the correct and fitting thing to do would be to close the window before the floor got all dirty and my poor roommate would have to clean! As I am always considerate of others I leisurely closed the window before joining the smock-clothed throng that wended its noisy way down to the dining room.

Consumed my coffee and roll and got the latest gossip concerning the fair coeds who were adding spice to college life by way of "fellow" students. Then again thinking of the roommate's labors I made my own bed before cheerily proceeding on my cracker has said "no rest for the wicked"; well, the college maiden surely has no time for repose. The instructors around this place certainly must have erased spring fever from the list. Wonder what would be easy to develop and yet wouldn't last long?

Took in a show—all about the wild Collegian and his coed—not that they really were wild! They just acted that way. Decided just after the lights and bell that maybe college isn't so tough after all. Later as the sweet hosts of the Owls and Owlets in all their glory came floating up from the court, romantic neighbors, who were disadvantageously situated as to these serenades, removed all coverings in their endeavor to sit at our window without freezing to death.

As the last notes faded out into silence I gathered what covers could be located in the dark and once more settled down for sleep.

Radio Club, Male Octet Entertained Tuesday

Miss Bullard entertained at a tea Tuesday afternoon at Weld Hall the members of the Radio Club and the Double Quartet. Other invited guests were the Mesdames Preston, D. Sherwood, and E. Anderson, and the Misses Hawkinson and Roseltha Nesheim. Miss Gibbon and Mrs. Goodhue served the tea, assisted by Eleanor Janneck and Jane Preston. The

WOMEN'S DIAMOND TEAMS ARE BUSY

The Women's Outdoor Baseball Tournament opened May 8 when the J.H.S. trimmed Sorenson's team 33 to 1. Sykora's team won the second game of the series from Kiland, 10 to 1. On Monday, May 13, Sorenson's team came back strong to defeat Kiland's players, 14 to 13. Sykora's team members were forced to forfeit their game, leaving the score 1-0.

The schedule for the remaining part of the tourney is as follows:

May 20—J.H.S. vs. Olson; Sorenson vs. Lodgaard.

May 22—Olson vs. Sorenson; Lodgaard vs. J.H.S.

May 27—Sykora vs. Olson; Kiland vs. Lodgaard.

May 29—Lodgaard vs. Sykora; Kiland vs. Olson.

Extra—Lodgaard vs. Olson.

It's All in the Game

Above the sonorous din of an instructorless classroom came the ejaculation, "We'll watch them play this afternoon. He'll be there."

Could they mean the tardy instructor? I listened intently, when all at once one voice was heard above the rest, "He's the best looking man in school." Another voice joined in, "Yes, because he said so himself."

The instructor could be seen in the adjoining room through a door that was partly ajar, but one who had failed to see him continued to praise her would-be hero. "He sings the Egyptian Love Song in June, like a senior wooing his senorita beneath a projecting balcony." Just then the master of ceremonies appeared in the doorway and the embarrassed student further refrained from expressing herself. Immediately after class there was the usual rush to the kittenball field.

George Simson was at the sluggers' box, and before he could be stopped he had sent the ball far above the reach of the fielders, which was naturally the path of the least resistance, by using his famous autographed tennis racquet. George began to circle the bases, followed by Police Officer Archer, who, being so excited, arrived at home plate just a step ahead of George. Upon arriving he was kindly informed by Police Officer Kise that he was not to run bases, but to arrest the culprit. Simson, appearing before Justice Hamrin, was sentenced to be campused for a week.

The official timekeeper, Mr. Weltzin, became so excited during this play that the stop watch was automatically released from his hand and landed in the face of the party that had been the center of conversation by the students in the classroom. Needless to say they did not get to see him that day except by doctor's orders. The official stop watch repairer, Mr. Sande, was called upon to do his official duty during a lull in the excitement.

Sluggar Smith appeared next with his hockey bat, struck at what he imagined was the ball and then circled the bases, making a homerun only to be informed that the ball had never left a straight line from the catcher to the pitcher. But Smith, not to be beat out of his homerun, stopped the game. He was then kindly arrested and taken before Justice Hamrin. Believing himself to be grossly wronged by the opponents, he mounted the rostrum and used every known tactic of a Spanish athlete in an illustrious appeal, thereby winning the official decision of the judge.

Coach Nemzek was heard to command, "Play ball." The balance of the game passed uneventfully with the exception that Borden had regular fisherman's luck on first base; Lyman Davis slid in home too late to make his score count; and Ted Nemzek, remembering to hit low and hard, sent Second Baseman Harold Briggs in hot pursuit after he had sent a ball following the path of the least resistance. Through this play was discovered the dark horse of the season, Simon Nakken, who starred in the second base position.

NEW COMMISSION MINUTES GIVEN

TWO MOTIONS PASSED; PLANS COMPLETED FOR LAST
COLLEGE PARTY

In accordance with the new constitution the minutes of the student commission meetings are to be submitted to The MISTIC for publication. The MISTIC is in receipt of the reports of the first two meetings.

The minutes will be printed as a regular report, and when motions of particular importance are passed, a separate news story will appear on the front page in addition.

Thursday Meeting.

The first regular meeting of the new Student Commission was held in Room 24 at 9 o'clock, Thursday, May 9, 1929.

The constitution was read to the members of the commission by the president, John Ingersoll.

A motion was made, seconded, and carried that the adviser of the Praeceptor should be one member of the nominating committee for the editorship of the Praeceptor.

A second motion was made, seconded, and carried that the Student Commission should meet at 8 o'clock on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Plans for the inaugural program were discussed.

A motion for adjournment carried.
(Signed)
FRANCES JOHNSON,
Secretary.

Meeting Tuesday.

The Student Commission met Tuesday, May 14, at 8 o'clock.

At this time plans were completed for the last all-school party to be held this Friday, May 17, in the gym.

A motion for adjournment carried.
(Signed)
FRANCES JOHNSON,
Secretary.

TRIANGULAR MEET HERE TOMORROW

sists of Leland Vinz, Lyman Davis, George Edwards, and William Davis. It is likely that the above men will run in the same order that they are mentioned. This race is to be the feature of the day, as Jamestown and Wahpeton are represented with fast teams, and there is a close and exciting race to be witnessed.

Conference Meet Next Week.

The number of entrants from this school are few, but the men entered are of high calibre and they are expected to come through in their individual events. At the present time there is a small number of men out for track but those who are out are grooming themselves with care for this meet today and the Conference meet at Jamestown meet Saturday, May 25. This meet will give the Peds a chance to see how they stand under fire and how they compare with other conference teams.

First Place Is Five Points.

Coach Glen Hanna, Moorhead High School coach, will judge the various events. Several of the men of the team will assist with the scoring and judging. In figuring the winner of the meet, 5 points will be given for each first place, 3 points to second place, and 1 point to third place. The relay will not count for points unless some such agreement is made before the meet between the coaches.

The Peds have spent considerable time in the past three weeks in preparing themselves for this meet as well as for the conference meet, which is only a week away. As mentioned once before in an earlier issue of The MISTIC, considerable stress has been laid to the developing of a relay team that will represent the institution with a winning group. With the co-operation of the students in spirit Friday the Peds are sure to render interesting competition to visiting teams here Friday.

Preston to Be Judge Sixth Time at North Dakota Music Contest

Mr. Preston is attending the finals of the North Dakota music contest which is being held at Grand Forks yesterday and today. This is the sixth year in succession that he has been a judge at this meet.

It is of interest to know that Robert Walls, of Washburn, N. D., took second place at this contest for 1927 and 1928.

The three judge plan is being used, although some criticisms are given also. The judges rate each contestant and the winners are determined by the highest rating.

Other judges are: Mr. Sparode, band conductor of Luther College; Mr. Gillette, head of the School of Music at Carleton, pipe organist and composer; Carlyle Scott of the Music department of the University of Minnesota; the head of the Music department at Augustana College, and a man from one of the music journals of Chicago.

Moorhead and Its Suburbs Hear the Mpls. Symph. Orch.

(From the Fergus Falls Tribune)

Fergus Falls was represented by several parties of music lovers at the engagement Monday evening of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in Moorhead. They were enthusiastic in their enjoyment of the program. The concert was held in Weld Hall, the auditorium of the Moorhead State Teachers College. The soloist was the celebrated tenor singer, George Meader. The program was full of good things. The overture to "Figaro," suitably opened it. Then followed the entire four movements of Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony, almost an evening's program in itself. Meader sang the aria from Don Juan, "Il Mio Tesoro," and later two Wagnerian airs, one from "Die Meister-singer," the other from "Die Walkuere." The orchestra's rendition of one of Wagner's stupendous pieces, the introduction to Act III of "Lohengrin," closed the program, properly speaking, but the enthusiasm of the audience was so great, and so evidently sincere, that Herr Verbrughen, conductor da capo et terrifique, ordered back his men, and the listeners had the unusual pleasure of hearing a second program, three or four additional numbers. The only drawback to the evening was that there was not standing room enough for all who wished it.
